

ARLINGTON JONES

Pianist. Composer. Educator.

“...one is drawn to his soulful disposition. Arlington Jones is the epitome of all that is ideal as a contributor to society and to music. He is a ‘salt of the earth’ individual and an ardent scholar of music.”

—Heinrich Frans
Music Journalist, South Africa

MASTER CLASSES

Jones knows how to get people excited about creating music at the piano with his innovative teaching concepts and hands-on training style. The Way I Hear It Jazz Piano Techniques™ master class is for everyone – jazz and classical students, pianists of other styles, and teachers. It provides practice techniques to improve groove, concept of rhythm, and knowledge of chords. This method is geared to relinquish the fear of music theory and improvisation. Jones also teaches master classes for instrumental ensembles and composers.

CONCERTS

Arlington Jones is a classically trained jazz piano maestro and prolific composer with an undeniable soulful music heritage. He makes the piano speak through lush harmonies, impeccable groove, and infectious energy. His music reveals the history of traditional and modern jazz, influenced by ragtime, stride, classical, blues, Latin, funk, and sacred styles. Whether performing solo or with his band, Arlington Jones & The Brethren, Jones delivers an unforgettable music journey – a contagious toe-tapping, finger-snapping, hand-clapping, head-bobbing experience!

PERFORMANCE WORKSHOPS

Jones combines a solo or band mini-concert with an engaging Q&A discussion about the playing experience. This session is for pianists, other instrumentalists, and music fans – designed to give insight into various elements of a live performance. Jones has also created a special interactive presentation for kids called I Can Improvise™ Youth Concert, a fun way to learn about song form, improvisation, music history, and concert etiquette.
